Professional Experience

As the owner of online recording studio Fox Tracks Music, I have honed my expertise in composing original music that precisely captures the desired mood and personality of the project, thanks to my experience in sonic branding. I have also created captivating musical adaptations for various genres, including podcast themes, title themes, and film compositions. Additionally, my 7-year ownership of a successful full-time music business has provided me with invaluable experience in scheduling and project management, ensuring efficient and timely delivery of projects. Moreover, my on-site consultation expertise enables me to adapt music to suit live event needs, even on international stages.
